

Dan O'Neal

Dan O'Neal, a native of South Carolina, resides in Spartanburg SC. Dan has been practicing bonsai for more than 30 years. A Wildlife Biologist by training, Dan has spent most of his professional career in the outdoors with the United States Fish and Wildlife Service and Ducks Unlimited, Inc. Dan is a member of the Upstate Bonsai Club and the Blue Ridge Bonsai Club. He has travelled the world exploring some of the most unique places including South America, Africa, India, France, Switzerland, Belgium, Holland, India and Japan. Dan recently went to Japan to study and visit some of the premier Japanese bonsai nurseries' including Kobayashi, Rakujiyun and Nakayama.

Dan has worked with many bonsai artists from all parts of the United States deepening his knowledge of bonsai. He maintains an extensive collection of some of the finest Japanese azaleas in the U.S. including Nyohozan, Kinsai, Shunko-no-Hikari, Akemi no Tuski, Reiko, Sachi-no-Tsukasa, Hikorin and more.